

Innovation Award Architecture+ Building - the award winners have been selected

- A competition initiated by the architectural journal AIT and AIT-Dialog in cooperation with BAU 2023, Messe München / April 17th to 23th
- Four Innovation Awards, six Special Mentions and eleven Mentions awarded

For the 15th time the architectural journal AIT and AIT-Dialog in cooperation with Messe München GmbH, initiated the Innovation Award Architecture+ Building during the BAU fair in Munich. The Innovation Award is intended for manufacturers of innovative products and materials for the complete contract, industrial building segment and for residential construction, as well as for architects, interior designers and designers who work in these areas and have developed associated products. Participation was open to all exhibitors at the BAU who have registered their products for the Innovation Award Architecture+ Building.

The design and architecture award is initiated to honor products that correspond to the requirements of architects to a special degree. The prize recognizes conceptual project-specific solutions and selected products, which satisfy in design and functionality. Important assessment criteria are the authenticity of materials and the variety of application. This year a total of 71 companies with 100 products are participating.

A jury of renowned architects and interior designers decided upon the winners and special mentions on April 17th, 2023, the opening day of the BAU:
